

Cadets with Specific Religious Needs

Some cadets/parents may have concerns when it comes to meeting their religious needs. Every effort should be made to adjust or accommodate the cadet where possible. A multi-faith or contemplation room/area can be set aside to meet prayer requirements.

Adjustments can be made to uniform, for example berets can be replaced by Black Hijab or turban. Where meals are being provided then care must be taken to provide food that meets the religious needs of the cadets and in times of fasting, there is an opportunity for the cadets to break their fast and still have food available.
